Q: Firebase FCM Notification JSON - how to set RemoteMessageBodyKey? I'm trying to use FCM to send push notifications to some users. I'm using the Firebase console with "Android > Messages > Add Web Server" enabled. My code is based on the official Firebase tutorial: Future `_sendPush(String messageBody) async { final headers = {}; final message = Map(); message['title'] = "TITLE"; message['body'] = messageBody; message['content-available'] = '1'; final headersValue = Map(); headersValue['content-type'] = 'application/json'; headersValue['charset'] = 'utf-8'; try { var result = await FirebaseInstanceId().sendNotification(message, payload: messageBody, notificationTitle: message['title'], notificationOptions: [FirebaseNotificationChannel(channelName: "users")]); print('Message sent with result: $result'); print('Channels :' + result.channels.keys); print('Token : $result.token'); print('Message : $messageBody'); print('MessageId: $result.messageId'); } on Error catch (e) { print("Message failed with error : $e"); } } And my Result looks like this: Message sent with result: Message Id: null, Sender ID: null, Message: "Hello World", Token: "SENDER_ID", Channels : ["Default", "users"] However, I'm missing the RemoteMessageBodyKey in the result.message object and that prevents me from properly parsing the JSON result: Map result = _message`
