We are switching to using a self-developed software solution and we've decided to use an XML file (using MS SQL server 2000 as a back-end) to store the application's configuration information. The configuration info is stored in XML files and the XML files will be generated at compile time. The XML file will be compiled into an assembly, as will all the pages in the application, and all the actions and methods in our code-behind files. I'm currently having a pretty hard time wrapping my head around
